

4 v 2 → 5 v 3

Large Sided

Group Attacking

Created using SoccerTutor.com Tactics Manager

Procedure:

Each team starts with three players inside of their defending half and two players inside of their attacking half. A neutral attacker is stationed in each half. Two players from each team are designated as part-time attackers (the players marked with “A”) and can only enter the playing field when their team wins possession. This gives the attacking team a 4 v 2 advantage in their defending half and a 5 v 3 advantage in their attacking half during play. When a team loses possession of the ball, their “A” players must exit the playing field immediately. Games are played to three goals and the players rotate to new positions after the game is over.

Coaching Points:

- 1 Speed of Play – Play in a one and two touch rhythm to create overloads and scoring chances.
- 2 Transition - Anticipate changes of possession and get moving before your opponent does.
- 3 Finishing – Work the ball to the end line to create opportunities for crosses and set backs.

Progressions/Regressions:

Progression 1 – Play with one less “A” player, creating a 4 v 3 in the defending half.
